CONCLUSION OF OPINION

Bulgarians Talk in More Warlike Way—They Give Their Reasons for Refusing to Give In.
Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 2.—A memorandum setting forth the motives which induced Bulgaria to occupy the Eastern Roumelian section of the Oriental railway has been prepared for submission to the Powers. Germany and Austria have made formal protest against the continued occupation of this road, and Great Britain and France have joined with them in notifying Bulgaria that its position in this matter is unjustifiable. The memorandum declares that it is no longer possible to re-establish the status quo ante, and renews the assurance that Bulgaria will safeguard foreign interests. Bulgaria is insisting upon Turkey's recognition of the diplomatic character of J. S. Guechoff, the Bulgarian diplomatic agent at Constantinople, who recently returned here as a protest against the failure of the Turkish foreign minister to invite him to a dinner given to the diplomatic body.

CUT OFF FROM CANADA NOW.

A Strip of Land All Along The Boundary is Set Aside.
Victoria, B. C., Oct. 2.—The Provincial government will set aside a strip of land sixty feet in width along the international boundary line which will not be available for preemption and upon which a permanent reserve extending to all mining rights, etc., will be placed. This follows an arrangement with the United States government by the British ambassador at Washington. Frequent trouble in the past has been occasioned by the lack of this "buffer strip" in the arrest of criminals and in the application of mining and other laws. The United States government also sets aside a similar strip, and thus the neutral zone will be 120 feet in width. The order in council to above effect just passed will not effect the present holders of lands or rights within the prescribed area.

BOMBARDMENT KEEPS UP.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"The Wolf" Will Be Played at Barre Opera House To-night.
The Burlington Free Press of Wednesday had the following to say of "The Wolf," as played in Burlington Tuesday night.
"The Wolf," by Eugene Walter, was presented at the Strong theatre last evening, and those people who remained at home missed one of the best attractions that will be seen in Burlington this season. "The Wolf" might truthfully be called a Canadian poem of the great Northwest, a poem that tells of a simple people, and the two oldest stories in the world, a good love and a bad one. There are only six characters, but the interest is centered on the one story, centered so much that it keeps the audience keyed to a tension until the end. Naturalness is the main thing that makes it good, there being nothing in it that does not happen to every person; not one false note that jars.
"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."
No play that has been presented in many seasons has made a more powerful appeal to the sympathies of the audience, and certainly none has proven more popular than "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which comes to the opera house next Monday. The laughter and applause with which this piece has been greeted in every city visited this season seems to be contagious. The dear old Kentucky drama never went better than in this its fifth season, the uncensored drollery of the players giving three hours of unceasing and persistent happiness. As an entertainer, Mrs. Wiggs has no peer in her class. Of all women, she is the dearest and funniest, the ideal philosopher and friend, at once a broad beam of sunshine and lovely surroundings and a beneficent among all her associates. It is a play which makes a universal appeal, fits every taste and every locality.
Edgar Selwyn Coming.
Edgar Selwyn, who will be seen at the opera house on Wednesday, Oct. 7th.

MAGAZINE REVIEW.

At the Crater's Edge.
In an article on "The Spoliation of Niagara Falls," in the Popular Science Monthly, the author, Dr. J. W. Cpenor, points out that the drawing off of water for power, not only interferes with the scenery of the falls, but also causes considerable financial loss in other directions. He says: "The canals and harbors are much shallower than they used to be. Several inches of this are due to the power diversion, which, however, is not at present seen, owing to very high water. The lowering of the level of the basin above the Upper Rapids, increasing the slope of the river and consequently the velocity of the current, also lowers the level of the lake above. An increased discharge of 2,500 cubic feet per second lowers Lake Erie by one foot. On the larger streams in the carrying trade each inch of draft represents a return of $100 in extra freight receipts. The canals and harbors should not be reduced in depth by power diversion at a time when there is a clamor for deeper channels. The impairing of navigations, under conditions as shown above, threatens to reach two, or even two and a half feet. Under the estimate made for the American section of the International commission, the cost of repairing the damage caused by the Chicago drainage canal was found to exceed $12,000,000, so that the total costs of both countries on account of power diversions promises to reach twenty-five millions of dollars or more. Are the power companies willing to pay for their share of their costly franchise, and for the loss owing to the diminishing business going to and at the falls, which may reach $25,000,000 a year?"
He (gazing into the crater)—Isn't it appalling, Amelia! Just think of the stupendous power stored there, the incalculable heat.
She—That reminds me; did you remember, when you wrote mommer, to tell her to have the furnace fixed before we get back—Brooklyn Life.
